

Macleod Curlers Are Contending For Honors at Lethbridge Bonspiel

The Macleod Curlers, at least perhaps we should say the best of the Macleod Curlers, or at least who think they are the best, have proceeded to the village of Lethbridge, each one determined to bring back some memento of the Lethbridge Bonspiel. Without backing up these valiant fellows a bit, we sincerely hope their expectations will become realizations, in fact the Boys at Home have each plucked a four leaf clover for their special benefit. Oh; Yes we nearly forgot their names, there were three rinks with the following personnel: A. Young (skip) D. Leyden, A. McLeod, G. Pollard; A. Dunn (skip) J. Marks, Butler, H. Verge; O. Stewart (skip) Gordon Stewart, Pringle, T. Laycock. Well there is one thing sure, if the lads don't bring home the bacon, they can be assured of a good time, and they are just the right bunch to appreciate a good time eh Joe?

From all accounts there will be a hard bunch of players in the Lethbridge Bonspiel this year, but Macleod has the confidence of the bunch

Permits Will Not Be Required To Purchase Beer By Glass

Edmonton, Feb. 19.—Residents of Alberta will not require a permit to go into a licensed place and buy a glass of beer. But they will require a beer license, which will cost $1.00, in order to be able to purchase beer from the brewery or the vendor.

Clubs will be allowed to sell beer, but they must be bona fide clubs, and restrictions will be set up so that Alberta will not have to contend with the same beer club menace which has given the B. C. government so much bother.

These were the two big questions settled at the Tuesday afternoon sitting of the legislature in dealing with the Liquor Control Act in committee of the whole.

Both questions brought about keen debates, the beer privilege for clubs especially, and on a standing vote they've sent down, we think they'll make some of the other Southern Curlers step out.

EMPRESS THEATRE

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

SPENT 30 MONTHS AND TRAVELED 50,000 MILES MAKING PICTURE

No other motion picture production of the current season has so widely enlisted the attention of educators and public alike as the Universal production, the work of two Western naturalists which is coming to the Empress Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, "Hunting Big Game in Africa." The above hunting sounds surprising about a hunting picture, but the fact is that "Hunting Big Game" constitutes a delightful natural history and geography of south and central Africa as well as a drama from life.

Henry A. and Sidney Snow, father and son, of Oakland, Cal., were the men who took the pictures. They sailed from the Pacific Coast in 1919 and spent two and a half years in Africa. With the novel aid of the American flivver, more than 50,000 miles and tendentious countries were covered. The Snows brought back for the Oakland Museum of Natural History the largest collection of African fauna and ethnology ever gathered. One hundred and twenty-five thousand feet of pictures were taken, of which 10,000 feet with appropriate titles are used in the theatre production.

Thousands of Penguins Shown
The picture story begins with the densely populated penguin grounds and the sperm whale fishery off the coast, after which the narrative takes up the trek by mule team and oxen from Cape Town a thousand miles northward into Bechuanaland. Both the native tribes and the fauna of the Union of South Africa are interestingly treated.

On the way up a visit is paid to the Kimberley diamond mines, filming for the first time the entire operation from the drilling of the "blue ground" to the extraction of the gems.

A movingly dramatic portrayal is that of the loss of the ox safari by the sting of tsetse fly, which is death to pack animals. This happened on the return trek southeast through Zululand. The explorers then decided to make a fresh start from the southeastern coast and to employ American flivvers instead. The second journey was 2500 miles straight north up to and beyond the Equator, including British and Portuguese East Africa, the ex-German mandatory, Uganda, Central Africa, and the borders of Abyssinia. To the film spectator, the geography is made easy by animated drawing.

The use of the small American autos proved a great success not only for transportation but also in pursuing the game on the trackless veldt. Many species of the larger Wild that had eluded film closeups were "caught." To the lover of natural history it is indeed a pleasure to see these nearby action views of giraffes, zebras, impalas, gnus, blueboks, springboks, warhogs and other plains animals in their wild state. No still picture nor even Zoo setting of captive creatures has such a vivid effect.

Many Thrills Experienced
The hunting of the ferocious man-killers was attended by many thrills. Characters and habits of lions, leopards, rhinoceroses, elephants, etc., are graphically illustrated by the pictured details of the hunts. The capture of the three little lion cubs, and the scene showing how the mother baboon "perambulates" her baby, especially delight the young folks. At the waterhole the untamed natural history collection is like Noah's ark. The indescribable beauties of tropical bird life are fully pictured and the peculiarities of the old reliable ship of the desert—the camel caravan—once seen will never be forgotten.

FILMS AFRICAN BIG GAME AFTER DOZENS OF OTHERS FAIL
The enormous difficulties of African photography which have caused many expeditions to return empty-handed and have barred the making of feature films on the locale, have been solved by two California cinematographers, H. A. Snow and Sidney Snow, whose Universal Picture production, "Hunting Big Game in Africa" will be shown at the Empress theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

The film was packed in tin trunks. After exposure in the day's hunt, it was developed the same night within the portable movie laboratory. Previous photographers had trusted to chemically impure river water, but this expedition used rain water in the developing baths, collecting and storing it for the desert journeys.

Working at night kept the emulsion from peeling off the base. Many a cinema house in Capetown has had the experience of seeing a whole feature dissolve to sticky glue. Guarding against heat was only one precaution, for static, insects that eat the film, and other pests play havoc. Every step was marked by the utmost care, and ceaseless experimentation resulted in a technique that defied climate.

Another great difficulty in Africa has been that of getting up close to the animals. The "still" photographer solved it by means of the "camera trap," i.e., a string which the beast stepped on and which snapped his picture, but there has been no known means of making the animals picture themselves moviely. The Snows put a familiar American invention to work, and were no longer obliged to depend on telephoto views. They "got" all the large beasts in close-ups, and show for the first time the intimate life of the jungle. Personal bravery in the hunt combats did the rest. Sidney Snow the chief cinematographer was with his father on the gun firing line everywhere.

HUGE CIRCUS ELEPHANTS ARE PETS COMPARED TO AFRICAN VARIETY

H. A. Snow's "Hunting Big Game in Africa" a Universal picture, which is being presented at the Empress theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, is going to startle folks whose only visualization of wild creatures is of the zoo or menagerie.

The big game presented is from one-third to two-thirds larger than the captive cousins in the menageries. Means have been found of picturing many of the larger wild animals in close-ups. Actual combats are shown, and the hunt is a thrilling continuity from the first tracking to the stopping of the charging animal by Mr. Snow's rifle.

The story begins on the west coast of Africa, then South Africa is visited, native "jazz" fashions and ceremonies are recorded, the Kimberley diamond fields are explored, and soon the grand safari starts via Mombasa towards the Equator.

Old elephants constitute the only roads into the jungle. One of these led into the vast crater or bowl of an extinct volcano, where the party nearly lost their lives by an elephant stampede. Attacks on their camp by lions, leopards, hyenas and other prowlers were an almost nightly occurrence. When an ant army invaded, refuge was found only by placing the sleeping cots in the river!

There were many other hardships, privations and breath-taking escapes, but out of it all the Snow party emerged in 1922, with the most complete collection of museum specimens ever made and a series of pictures that for the first time portray the Kingdom of Beasts in matchless splendor and reality. This picture comes here after an engagement of three solid months in New York City, where it played to capacity audiences, averaging 20,000 a week.

TRUE-TO-LIFE FILM LAUDED BY CRITICS

The recent overwhelming success of the Universal picture "Hunting Big Game in Africa" at the Lyric theatre in New York City, where it ran three months, and which is booked for presentation at the Empress theatre here on next Wednesday and Thursday, illustrates the receptiveness of the public toward actual fact pictures, for productions in which Dame Nature has written the scenario.

A picture that is able to combine thrills, action, entertainment and education; that can attract 25,000 people a week for three months steadily on Broadway must be of more than ordinary interest and its arrival is being looked forward to with great expectations by local theatre-goers.

It is described in advance as the story of a hunter's wanderings in Africa with his son as cinematographer. H. A. and Sidney Snow led an expedition which went there in 1919 to collect fauna for a West Coast museum of natural history. They were away three years. South Africa was first visited. Later the party re-entered by way of Mombasa and pushed through jungle and desert beyond the Equator. This is the premier Big Game country of the world. Teeming with great cats, pachyderms, giraffes, ostriches, zebras, antelopes, buffaloes, it offers royal sport that intrigued Rainford, Roosevelt, Cunningham-Graham, F. C. Selous and many others. How the Westerners tackled it and what they saw—that is the story. All the metropolitan critics united in declaring it to be the most stupendous production of its kind ever attempted. You are certain to find plenty of interest.

After witnessing a showing of the Universal cinema production "Hunting Big Game in Africa," one New York critic remarked that the thing that struck him as remarkable was that H. A. Snow and his son Sidney had returned with the picture at all. "About every fifteen feet I was sure they were going to be killed, and it's still a mystery to me, how they escaped," he wrote. This view is concurred in by all who have seen the picture, which comes to the Empress theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. It is said to be the most thrilling thing ever screened, doubly so because there was no posed shots.

We understand that so far there have been over untephen thousand applications sent in from Macleod for the position of Government Vendor here. Well Boys, we wish you luck, but after all there will only be one Vendor appointed. Its rather peculiar every other man will tell you who is going to be the Vendor but he won't mention the name for fear of giving away the secret. Of course after it becomes public they will say "I knew that all along, but I wasn't going to say". Oh man.

The man who says he never makes a mistake probably doesn't know one when he sees it.

The Board of Trade Discusses Macleod's Fiftieth Anniversary

"That the President of the Macleod and District Board of Trade select a Committee from the Old Timers in Macleod, the Agricultural Society, the Mounted Police Veterans Association and other Macleod Organizations, to discuss the matter of holding a 50th Anniversary in Macleod, this Committee to report at the next public Meeting of the Macleod Board of Trade."

The foregoing motion was put and carried at a well attended banquet of the Macleod and District Board of Trade held in the Palace Cafe on Tuesday evening last.

After the Banquet the evening was given over to the discussion of the 50th Anniversary of the Mounted Police's arrival in Macleod in '74.

A number of those present voiced their opinions, to the effect that it would be a good idea for Macleod people, to get behind the Agricultural Society and combine it with the local Fair this year. This idea for a while seemed to be in the minds of the majority present until A. D. Ferguson addressed the assembly in a splendid concise speech, explaining very thoroughly that an affair of this kind should be something worthwhile or nothing at all, and that it should be entirely separate from the local Fair. Mr. Ferguson's remarks were well received and started a new line of thought, and a number of speakers, addressed the meeting endorsing Mr. Ferguson's thought, that the Celebration or Jubilee should be something different from the local Fair and something worthwhile in the way of a big Stampede, backed up more especially by Old Timers and Mounted Police Veterans, many of whom both far and near would gather around an Anniversary of this nature and give it their whole hearted support.

A. F. Grady asked that the Farmers of Macleod and District be approached this year and persuaded to prepare a selection of first class wheat that could be sent to the large Seed Fairs and Exhibitions both in Canada and America and once again bring home the laurels of success to Macleod, as they did in former years. As Mr. Grady so aptly remarked "Macleod has done it in the past, and they can do it again."

It was moved by J. B. Sutherland that the Macleod Board of Trade write to the Fisheries Department and ask that screens be placed in the outlets of the Irrigation project to save the fish from going to the large artificial water courses, also that the Fisheries Board re stock our local streams with "Fry" for the future. This motion was carried and adopted.

The banquet proved a big success, and those who attended took keen and active interest in the discussions, not only those, members of the Board of Trade, but everyone who was present interested in the Anniversary movement for Macleod this year.

Ardenville News

On Wednesday evening M. and Mrs. C. G. Johnson were the hosts of a most enjoyable party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Barr who left for Sacramento, California. The young couple were presented with a loather travelling bag as a token of the esteem of their friends and neighbors. The evening was spent in games and dancing. The Ardenville U. F. A. gave a card party and dance in the school house on Friday night. What was the game played, the ladies first prize being won by Mrs. J. Shields and Mr. O. Lockhart, won gentlemen's first; Miss E. Perrin and B. Bester winning the consolation. As the party was such a success the U. F. A. members are planning another to take place on March seventh. Many Waterton people attended the dance and Ardenville people intend to attend the concert and dance in Waterton school on Friday, February 22nd. This is an amateur concert but it promises to be worth while.

PRESENTATION TO R. J. E. GARDINER

The St. Andrew's Church Girl's Choir arranged a very pleasant surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Little on Wednesday evening in honor of their former choir leader, Mr. R. J. E. Gardiner. The girls were arranged in a half circle in one room and when Mr. Gardiner arrived the curtains were drawn and Miss Jessie Little came forward and read a very suitable address when Miss Irene McFarquhar presented Mr. Gardiner with a very nice "Red Bird" fountain pen on behalf of the choir. Mr. Gardiner replied in a very fitting manner thanking the girls for their thoughtfulness.

The rest of the evening was spent by the young folks in games and dancing, while the older members of the party enjoyed themselves playing cards, there were about thirty-five guests present. A very dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Little assisted by Mrs. Geo. McFarquhar.
The party was brought to a close by the company forming a circle with Mr. Gardiner in the centre while they sang "For He is a Jolly Good Fellow."

Everybody went home feeling that they had spent a very enjoyable evening.
The delegates to the Presbyterian Missionary Society convention and their hostesses were the guests of honor of the Local W.M.S. at luncheon and supper in the school room of the church yesterday. Among those from out-of-town were: Mrs. Cumberland of Pincher Creek, Mrs. Glover of Taber, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Ringland, Mrs. Gardiner, Mrs. Whipple and Mrs. Blakely of Macleod, Mrs. Vickie and Mrs. Billimiere of Taber, and Mrs. D. He will be responsible for the tidiness of the rooms during the week, and the manner in which his duties are carried out will be considered when passing candidates for the Tasks Test for Second Class Star.

After his Duties are completed, the Orderly Sixer for the week may remain for Parades for other than his own Six if he so wishes.

FRUITS, VEGETABLES AND SALADS ALL THE YEAR AROUND

We have neglected the Men's Clothing, Boots and Shoes and Gents' Furnishings, etc., in our weekly advertisements. A great number of men do not know that we carry a large stock at lowest cut prices of Underwear, Socks, etc.

GENTLEMEN

we will dress a window especially for you of Boots and Shoes—the retail price from $6.00 to $12.00—your choice for the tempting price of $5.00 per pair—

FIVE DOLLARS

Our reason for doing so is this—there are so many varieties that can't be re-ordered, and we anticipate that you will clean these out at this phenomenally low figure. Our aim has always been to keep a fresh stock all the time—to do this it is necessary to sacrifice odd lines regardless of cost. Spring is coming and rubbers and overshoes will be put aside—leather goods will take their place. Now is the time to buy. You can get style and quality at the price of a working boot. Spring goods are coming in and we want the room, so that is partly the reason of these tempting prices.
